Adding that special touch

WHETHER it's a lavish 1000-person wedding in The Grand Ballroom or a 20-seat private party at the Wine Cellar, Bankstown Sports prides itself on catering with class for every type of celebration.

The club finds itself in a rather privileged position, because they are a place for celebrations – for declarations of love, for recognition of years of commitment to each other, to say thank you or to remember the joyous birth of a child.

These are incredibly moving and important occasions that the Bankstown Sports Events Centre team just love to share in and help create.

Events Centre manager Dianne Lancaster, who has worked for the club for 11 years, says all clients, no matter the size or budget, receive the best service plus the "personal touch".

"We go outside the box," she says. "We put uniqueness into every client. We don't just give you a package and say 'that's it'."

Recent newlywed and Bankstown Sports member Julie Hutton can attest to that. As a surprise for her husband-to-be, Sam, Julie secretly arranged a hard rock tribute band to play at their reception at the club in October last year.

"It was a big secret and Bankstown Sports did all they could to make it a big surprise," she says.

"I think they had to take a piece out of a dividing wall to hide the band. I can't imagine too many places willing to do that."

The Events Team runs about 40 different sized celebrations every week. Last year alone they hosted more than 150,000 satisfied guests at more than 2300 events.

Not just a great place to have a wedding,

Bankstown Sports is adept at taking the hassle out of any celebration.

It caters for birthdays, reunions, anniversaries, naming days, engagement parties, concerts and more. Coupled with the Travelodge Hotel at the club it can provide a very attractive package for events.

For Julie and Sam Hutton, the colour purple was high on the agenda for their wedding – so purple flowers and table decorations featured - they even had a purple cake.

"It was so very purple. I loved it," Julie said.

The Events Centre team will sit down with all clients to negotiate on price and construct an efficient approach to producing an event with care and consideration.

"We can bring the most innovative and creative ideas to life - like no one else," Dianne says.

"If you've got a theme you want dramatised, we can add that special ingredient to take it one step further. Alternatively, if you need our inspiration to help find the perfect idea for your event, we've got it."

Julie Hutton says she looked at a range of places to hold her wedding but says Bankstown Sports came out on top in terms of value for money.

"It can be expensive to plan these events. But Bankstown Sport's services were the best and the prices were the best too," she says. "That's what you want on your wedding day."
